------------------- The main function of the Conspire installation package is to install all of the Conspire applications. Conspire includes these applications: - Conspire : The program that enables you to change the appearance of your desktop. - Cursor : Changes your mouse pointer to the hand icon when you are on a web site. - TopMenu : Makes Windows XP look like the old school Windows menu. - Board : Changes your dock desktop icons and adds your logos, bird, and website. - Dashboard : Your own web page accessible via a shortcut on your desktop. - Neopets : Changes your mouse pointer to the Neopets icon when you are on a web site. - Official Nethack : Adds your official logo and makes your Windows desktop look like the "classic" computer. - Player Character : Changes your mouse pointer to the Player Character icon when you are on a web site. - OctaClient : A program to help you send game updates over the internet. - Software : Allows you to change the settings and preferences of the above programs. - UserControl : Makes your mouse cursor look different on web sites. - Utilities : Adds those little programs you don't normally use. - Qtips : Changes your mouse pointer to the Qtip logo when you are on a web site. - Weather Beta : Adds your custom weather information to your Applications menu. - Windows XP Theme : Changes your Windows XP to look like a classic Macintosh. 1. What is Conspire? -------------------------- Conspire is a "sugar" application that allows users to change the appearance of the Windows desktop. After Conspire is installed, your mouse pointer will look like a hand or a Neopets (or whoever) icon when you are on a web site. Conspire includes a web browser that can access your own web site and a space for you to paste your own HTML-based web site. 2. How do I install Conspire? ------------------------------------ A small executable file will be installed on your computer along with Conspire. You will be given a license to use Conspire. When you first install Conspire, you will not be able to change your desktop appearance until you have installed the other Conspire "applications". You will have the following "applications" installed in the following order: Conspire (applications) - Board (Applications

What's New In Board?

I have created some custom desktop dockicons, but while working on them I realised that there are some holes. I believe to have 4 extra themes that can show their support towards some specific issues. How can I enable these extra themes? Theme1-Issue1, Theme1-Issue2, Theme1-Issue3, Theme1-Issue4 Theme2-Issue1, Theme2-Issue2, Theme2-Issue3, Theme2-Issue4 Theme3-Issue1, Theme3-Issue2, Theme3-Issue3, Theme3-Issue4 Theme4-Issue1, Theme4-Issue2, Theme4-Issue3, Theme4-Issue4 More info: If you want to get more details, you can visit this site: A: I found the solution in a comment in the thread: The solution is to follow the steps in this topic: Adding themes to dockIcons A: I found an answer in another thread (too bad is closed). And the solution is very simple: remove the folder /usr/share/manjaro-dock to allow the theme to be added to the dock, run these steps: create a new folder: /usr/share/manjaro-dock/themes then copy the themes folder from the xfce to this new folder restart the dock (in my case this is the xfce-panel) And enjoy the new themes. Thanks to the author of the manjaro-dock to allow the addition of themes like this. Q: How to get the parent of a list element in PowerShell I have a PowerShell script that is trying to parse the XML of each of a bunch of files and take the parent's name of each element of the XML. The scenario is a parent element is , I have looked at XML parsing powershell but I can't find a way to get the parent's name, I can get the parent element and the child element from the XML if it's
